

Born on the Fourth of July

With the US Supreme Court hearing argument today it seems like an opportune moment to consider what “Born on the Fourth of July” means to Physics and Theology – in pardon the expression real numbers.

Human Gestation is reckoned in Trimesters and “people” even Corporate “people” reckon time by quarterly and annual reports. The phase at conception is determined by figuring out what the phase is after birth and reversing the sign. As long as conception precedes birth, all is well. “Born on the Fourth of July” simply means that birth took place two days after the mid-year mark. Christmas, Hanuka, the School Year and New Years can all be back dated to the Fall Equinox. And “Life begins at birth of a Facebook Page” works too, however “Life begins at the conception of Facebook before the IPO” does not. It is a minor bug. Those born on Christmas or the Fourth of July, etc. say what “in phase” means. Nature says Winter is the cold season. The consensus is that nature has that one right.

Wavy lines are not necessarily crooked data, but the legal profession looks at the problem from one viewpoint or the other, which is why the legal argument is so amusing.

The (real) Year and the 24 Hour day are in resonance with 1460 plus 1 days per 4 Years. Gestation is three Trimesters plus one Calendar Quarter. There is no way to compute your way back to conception without passing by birth on the way.

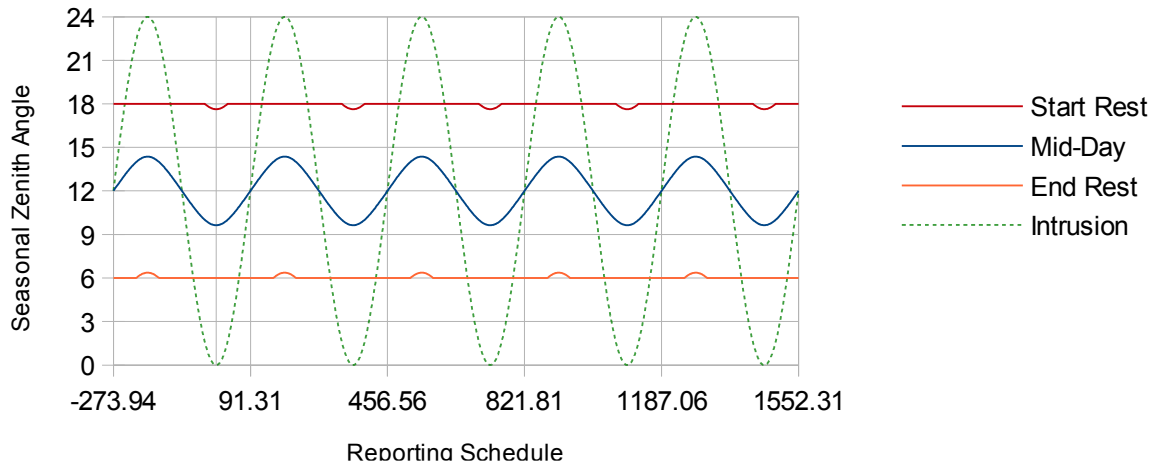

When you compute 8 hours of sleep you compute Work and Life Balance (Activity). Please do not disturb or intrude.

There is a great deal of required “me” time in the 16 Hours of Activity. The required “me” time comes from the requirement to restrict both of the Rest Period boundaries. If you like Traffic Jams and Waiting Lines you are perfectly free to do this on “your own time”. Or not.

12 Hours of Activity

12 Hours of Rest

12 Hours of Activity

12 Hours of Rest

Blocking out 12 Hours of “me” time still leaves a little required “me” time.

11:16:04 Activity (No Intrusion)

Web Time (12:43:56 Half Day)

(No Intrusion)

Web Time (Participation Optional)

It is possible to squeeze all the “me” time out without resetting network time or your watch. You can be a Millennial, Boomer, or anywhere in between or not and still make The Adults happy ;)

Please do not tell the Supreme Court though, they are getting paid to argue.
